

TGC GAME JAM PROPOSAL

Game Proposal: ComicMan

Team details:-

Team name: ATG

Team member/s: Abhinav Virupaksha Marvi

Mail id: abhinav.marvi@gmail.com

IndieConnect ID: <https://www.indieconnect.in/@abhinav>

- Game Description

ComicMan is a 2D puzzle-platformer where the player controls a comic book superhero who discovers he can move between comic panels. It combines platforming, environmental puzzles, and a story about creativity, freedom, and control.

The game is designed around the themes Comic, Twist, and Light, with an estimated playthrough duration of 13–17 minutes.

- Storyline

ComicMan begins as a typical superhero fighting a villain inside a comic book. After accidentally falling through a panel border, he discovers that he can move between panels and eventually reaches the edge of the page.

He notices the player's hand outside the comic and asks for help turning the page. As the adventure continues, the player discovers the Artist creating the comic under the control of a demanding Editor, who forces the Artist to put ComicMan through endless conflicts to make the comic famous.

As the Artist begins to sympathize with ComicMan, they secretly help him using panel manipulation and light to reveal hidden paths and erased drawings. Eventually, the Artist refuses to obey the Editor. On a blank final page, the Artist draws a path, allowing ComicMan to leave the controlled story and choose his own future.

- Core Mechanics

- Platforming: Move, jump, and navigate obstacles across comic panels
- Panel Traversal: Cross panel boundaries to explore different parts of the comic
- Panel Manipulation: Move and rotate panels to create paths and solve puzzles

- Light Mechanic: Use the Artist's desk lamp to reveal hidden platforms and erased drawings
- Page Turning: Interact with the comic to advance to new areas
- Story Interaction: Dialogue and environmental discoveries reveal the relationship between ComicMan, the Artist, and the Editor

- Project Scope

The game will feature:

- Five to Seven short story sections, from ComicMan's discovery to the final blank page
- A series of platforming challenges & puzzles
- One reusable panel manipulation system and one light based puzzle system
- Short dialogue sequences and simple comic style animations
- A coherent story

To keep the project achievable within the game jam, the game will use a limited set of reusable environments ,

simple 2D physics,
scripted story events instead of complex combat,
no elaborate cinematics or branching endings.

- Game jam theme compliance

The game is in line with the said themes as comic- comic character

Twist- plot has twist, some twist mechanics (rotate panels ,etc)

Light- light mechanics that shows certain levels and gameobjects

- Intended Experience

The player will begin by helping a comic book hero navigate his world, then gradually realize that their actions can influence the story itself. The final reveal transforms the gameplay mechanics into a narrative about giving a character the freedom to choose his own ending.

credits:

GPT-5.6 Luna – for choosing what all topics to mention in proposal (prompt:what all stuff to mention in game jam proposal give list in pointers less than 5 lines)